- ❖ BoG to Relaunch Ghana Gold Coin under 'Cedi@60' Initiative: The Bank of Ghana (BoG) has announced plans to relaunch the Ghana Gold Coin as part of the "Cedi@60" commemorative programme, with the aim of expanding public access to gold ownership and promoting financial inclusion. Speaking at the 125th Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) press briefing on Wednesday, July 30, 2025, Governor of the Central Bank, Dr Johnson Asiama, underscored the symbolic and financial significance of the move, noting that the relaunch forms a critical pillar of the commemorative activities marking six decades of the Ghanaian currency. The revival of the gold coin initiative comes at a time when global demand for gold remains elevated, with Ghana maintaining its position as Africa's top gold producer and a key player in the international bullion market. - ❖ World Bank Plans Securitisation, Debt Swaps to Boost Development: The World Bank is considering securitising some of the projects it's backing to attract more private funding as it prepares to roll out a series of debt-for-development swaps, President Ajay Banga said. It's designed the initiative to help accelerate the pace of development in some of the world's poorest nations and create some of the jobs that hundreds of millions of young people will need in the next decade, he said in an interview in Mozambique. Banga, who took charge of the world's biggest multilateral development bank two years ago, said he's trying to change the way the lender works to speed up projects. (Norvanreports)
