Communications Minister sells tech sector investment opportunities to Ghanaians in Canada: Minister of Communications and Digitalization, Ursula Owusu-Ekuful has laid out a myriad of investment opportunities in Ghana's digital technology sector in a bid to attract Ghanaians in the Canadian diaspora to come invest in the country. The Minister noted that over the last 25 years, Canadian exports to Ghana have been growing by 8.97% annually from USD23.8 million in 1995 to USD372 million currently, while Ghana is doing around USD100 million worth of exports to Canada. She said that huge gap provides the opportunity for Ghanaians at home and in the diaspora to partner and do more to bridge that gap. According to her, loads of investment opportunities exist in the digital technology sector, particularly within the context of Ghana's digital transformation agenda rolled out from 2017. Ghana to receive USD600m in budgetary support from World Bank: Ghana is expected to receive an estimated USD600 million in budgetary support from the World Bank for next year's budget (2023). The estimated budgetary support according to World Bank Country Director, Pierre Laporte, forms 30% to 40% of Ghana's budget for 2023. Ghana, he further noted, will however, have to first satisfy some certain criteria before it qualifies for the budgetary support. (Norvanreports)
